WACO'S SKYLINE LEAPING ON SUSPICION

BUILDING OPERATIONS TOTALING MILLION SHOW FAITH IN CITY'S GROWTH.

Austin Avenue to Present New Front—New Eight-Story Wholesale House.

With thousands of dollars in steel and brick piercing the sky, Waco's skyline is being surely developed and a glance at the building activity will enable the trade junketers of Navasota today to tell a true story of marvelous progress and growth in the Central Texas metropolis. The kingdom of the bunch, Waco, has started off on a merry chase after the two scrapping North Texas twins and its competitors in South Texas, and at the present rate of commercial development she bids fair to lap at least one of them and cut out a hot trail for the others before 1920.

More than a million dollars is now being spent on structures in Waco, and local architects promise several fall surprises in the way of new structures. Buildings to cost at least another million will have their inception sometime during the fall, it is said. Sanger Brothers are expected soon to announce plans for the complete rehauing of one monster structure and the building of another large one.

Six New Buildings to Rise.
No less than six huge monuments to retail industry are either under construction or contemplated for this year within three blocks on Austin avenue, and the seventh has just been completed. Two other structures will be built a block away, on Eighth and Washington streets.

Present construction operations are capped by the Goldstein-Migel Company building at Sixth street and Austin avenue, which will be a modern commercial palace when the finishing touches are added. Four stories in height, this building will afford 75,000 feet of floor space and will have the distinction of being the largest building in Central Texas to be used solely for retail purposes.

Fixtures Finest in Texas.

A crew of forty men is now employed at the plant of C. Mallender & Company, turning out the finest set of store fixtures in Central Texas for this establishment. The fixtures will be of mahogany and will cost $40,000. The mahogany fixtures will blend well with the cream-colored ceilings, girders and column posts on each floor. The front and west side of the building has been faced with tiled brick that cost 25 cents each. The owners say the feature of their new home will be the beautiful carriage entrance on the Sixth street side.

During the construction of the building the two lower floors have been in constant use and the business has not been interrupted. The pretty mezzanine floor, which will be used for the offices and the rest room, is nearing completion. The building and fixtures will cost about $155,000.

The Cameron building, just a block up the street, represents three stories of fine architecture. This building was finished and occupied just recently. It is the home of Wm. Cameron & Company, incorporated, lumber dealers, and takes rank with the finest buildings in the state.

Drug Store Next to Amicable.
Excavating for the A. R. Roberts building, adjoining the highly Amicable on Austin avenue, begins the latter part of the week. The work will be rushed through to completion. The building will have a handsome front. It is rumored that the lower floor will be occupied by a popular drug store from an adjoining block.

Plans for the addition of a couple of stories to the R. T. Dennis & Company building at Fifth street and Austin avenue, are rapidly taking on formal shape, the contract having been let. This addition will give the Dennis building a grand total of five stories, symbolic of a growing business, and will cost approximately $30,000.

Sanger Brothers will take charge of the McClellan hotel property at Fourth and Austin streets January 1. The firm will probably announce tentative plans for the complete remodeling of this building to suit its needs. Plans for the utilization of a vacant lot in the rear of the present home have been announced. A wholesale building will go there.

Masonic Building.
The Masonic building will soon be going up at Eighth street and Washington avenue. Just across the street is the site which will be the resting place of the foundation of a modern brick business building to be erected by E. W. Marshall. One of the most unique brick houses on Austin avenue is at the corner of Seventh street. It has just been completely overhauled by Mr. Marshall.

The whole city will rejoice in a

HOUSE MEMBERS BAR FIGHT ON FLOOR

CONNECTICUT MAN SHAKES FIST AT COLLEAGUE FOLLOWING FIERCE DEBATE.

Charged With Advising Postmasters to Get Busy in Coming Election.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, July 10.—A near fist fight between two members of the Connecticut delegation and a heated colloquy in which the life was passed without bloodshed between two prominent representatives from Illinois featured the deliberations in the house today.

The Connecticut participants were Representatives Hill and Reilly, the former a republican and the latter a democrat. Bitter feeling between them, beginning with Mr. Reilly's election, increased last winter when Mr. Reilly attacked Mr. Hill in a speech in the house.

Attacks Woodrow Wilson.
The trouble today began when Mr. Hill, without warning, launched into a political speech, criticizing the labor views of Gov. Woodrow Wilson and declared the re-election of President Taft was assured.

"Mr. Chairman," shouted Mr. Reilly, "the gentleman is much more confident of the election of Mr. Taft than he was at a recent meeting of Connecticut postmasters."

Mr. Reilly held aloft a letter which he said he had "provisionally" received this morning. His informant, who had heard Mr. Hill address the Connecticut postmasters, quoted Mr. Hill as saying there would be many familiar faces missing around the board "if they did not do better work in the next election than they did in the last," and admonishing his hearers to "take off their coats and work openly for the continuation of the administration."

Shakes Menacing Fist.
Through this arraignment Mr. Hill vainly sought to interrupt. When he got the floor he was trembling with anger. Standing in front of the speaker's desk, Mr. Hill shook a menacing fist in his colleague's direction. The two Connecticut members, with eyes ablaze, were close to each other. A number of members shifted to positions nearer the theater of action. The assistant sergeant at arms took up a position of vantage. Mr. Hill, however, turned on his heel and sought his seat.

In the Illinois verbal altercation, Representative Buchanan, democrat, criticized Minority Leader Mann for his alleged hostility to labor legislation, adding that Mr. Mann has resorted to filibustering and other methods to block the appointment of a commission to investigate the Taylor system of scientific shop management. Mr. Mann retorted that he had sought it only because Mr. Buchanan sought the creation of a "packed" commission, the leadership of which he was seeking himself.

Passes Lie.
"The charge is untrue," Mr. Buchanan replied. "If my colleague does not wish to correct it, he will show a desire to separate himself from the truth, which he frequently does on the floor of this house."

Mr. Mann did not reply and the affair ended peaceably.

Lorimer's Fate to Be Decided Within Forty-eight Hours

By The Associated Press.
Washington, July 10.—The right of Mr. Lorimer to his seat in the United States senate will be decided within the next 48 hours.
This much seems certain after today's seven hours discussion, featured by speeches by Senator Johnston of Alabama and Jones of Washington, for the pro-Lorimer force. Besides the closing plea of Mr. Lorimer, the program still includes speech-making by Senators Lea of Tennessee and Thornton of Louisiana and probably a further general discussion of the legal points involved. The Lea and Thornton speeches are expected to be brief. Senator Lorimer may conclude in one session, but any general discussion is likely to postpone action until Friday.

Mr. Johnston condemned Theodore Roosevelt for refusing to sit at the same table with Lorimer and, like Senator Dillingham, declared he would vote for Lorimer, even if it cost him his own seat. Senator Jones also criticized Colonel Roosevelt for heaping "obloquy" on Lorimer and charged that President Taft had attempted to influence senators and judges in the case against Lorimer. Mr. Jones said the yielding to public clamor is a blot on his record which never can be effaced.

LIVE BOOSTERS HEADED FOR NAVASOTA

YOUNG MEN'S BUSINESS LEAGUE THIRD EXCURSION LEAVES THIS MORNING.

Literature Taken to Boost Waco's Claims—Will Eat Supper at Navasota.

Navasota merchants and others in the principal towns en route will be given a chance to learn something more about Waco's commercial supremacy today, when 150 hustling trade seekers, representing this city's liveliest crowd, invade the busy little town on the lower Brazos. Congregating at the union station, the Waco boosters will depart at 7 o'clock this morning on a special train over the Houston and Texas Central. It is the third of a series of one-day trade trips under the auspices of the Young Men's Business League.

Every prominent firm in Waco will be represented on that special train. The boosters are going to preach Waco only to those live inhabitants of Navasota, where supper will be eaten. They are going to try to strike up a greater friendship between Waco and Navasota than ever existed before, and under belief that there are a few people down there who don't know it, they are taking along literature and words to prove that Waco is the only logical trading point for them.

All Trips Successful.

The two previous trade trips under the auspices of the Young Men's Business League have been successes and trade winners. Waco merchants assert, and the prospects were reported good last night for the largest crowd ever making one of the jaunts.

Probably the youngest booster who ever went on one of the trade excursions out of Waco is Master Monte Lawrence, nephew of L. Migel of the Goldstein-Migel company. This little chap is a bright youngster and no doubt will represent the big firm in a most satisfactory manner.

TWO GIRLS DROWN; ESCORTS ARE SAVED

YOUNG MEN HURLED TO DECK OF CRAFT THEIR BARGE COLLIDED WITH.

By The Associated Press.
Batesville, Ark., July 10.—Two girls lost their lives by drowning in White river last night and by a happy chance their escorts escaped a like fate by a narrow margin when the barge on which they were passengers crashed into a government barge moored to a dredgeboat.

The dead are Miss Elsie Moore of Batesville and Miss Millard Minor of Newport.

Robert Bone and Jay Grover of Batesville, who were with the young women, were thrown on the moored barge by the force of the collision and stunned and were unaware of the fate of their companions until a rescue party returned to search for them.

Eloper Caught Kills Self With Poison and Lead

By The Associated Press.
Montgomery, Ala., July 10.—A special to the Journal from Dothan, Alabama, says:

Despondent over love affairs, Early Whidden, a young man 22 years old, today drank a quantity of laudanum and shot himself in the forehead with a long-ranged 22-caliber rifle. Death resulted later. Whidden, who resided with his mother, near here, eloped with Miss Spann of this city yesterday and went to Graceville, Florida, where they were caught before the marriage ceremony was performed.

SAYS WASHINGTON IS A SABBATH-BREAKER

By The Associated Press.
Washington, July 10.—"Washington is setting a bad example for the country," said Representative William S. Howard, of Georgia, when he introduced a bill today forbidding working on the Sabbath in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Howard would close down every industry save those of necessity and charity on Sunday. His bill would exempt newspapers, drug stores, street car lines and public utilities. He said the government was one of the chief violators of the day of rest.

Freight Rates Lowered Through Waco Purchases

A story in figures is presented in the accompanying table, a story that every merchant who today welcomes the Waco trade boosters, and others over this section who do not, will find interesting. A saving in freight in every instance can be made by buying in Waco and of Waco merchants. While the trade trip is intended to benefit Waco merchants, it will also be a benefit to merchants in many nearby central Texas cities if they will take advantage of it.

The table is authentic, having been compiled by the Waco Freight Bureau. Waco merchants receiving orders make shipments the next day to

NEW PARTY WILL ASK REFORM OF TARIFF

PLATFORM WILL LIKELY DECLARE FOR IMMEDIATE REVISION DOWNWARD.

Progressive Leaders Tell T. R. Such a Plank Is Necessary to Carry the West.

By The Associated Press.
Oyster Bay, July 10.—Immediate downward revision of the tariff is likely to be one of the demands made by the new party headed by Col. Roosevelt. While the former president was noncommittal today regarding the course he would urge the Chicago convention of the party to adopt, it developed from the talk of a number of leaders who have conferred with Col. Roosevelt in the last few days that the party doubtless will declare for immediate revision downward.

According to the present program, the demand for action will be restricted to those which, in the opinion of the party heads, are obviously high. The woolen and cotton schedules were pointed out as perhaps the best examples. Whether the platform will enumerate specific schedules and pledge itself to scale them downward or will content itself with a general declaration of the principles upon which it will act has not been decided.

Col. Roosevelt has been told that the sentiment of the country, especially in the west, where his largest measure of support is looked for, emphatically is for quick action on the tariff. The election of a democratic majority in the house in 1910 was cited in support of the argument that the progressive party must pledge itself to downward revision. The ex-president regards the democratic plan on the tariff as either an insidious document for campaign uses or as an avowal which, if literally fulfilled, would work the ruin of the country.

During his campaign for the republican presidential nomination, in which he said today he had expressed his views on the tariff, the ex-president declared himself in favor of a commission to investigate the relations between labor and the tariff with the idea of making such an adjustment that the benefits of the tariff would reach the wage workers.

Wants Investigation of the Convention That Nominated Taft

By The Associated Press.

Des Moines, July 10.—Senator A. B. Cummins, in a resolution presented to the republican state resolutions committee today, suggested that the commission be named to investigate the manner in which President Taft was nominated by the Chicago convention. The resolutions say that if Taft was fraudulently nominated republicans would be excusable in bolting the Chicago ticket, but if not, "Iowa republicans should support the ticket enthusiastically."

Theodore Roosevelt sent word to Iowa republicans today that so far as he knew there never was a chance of Senator Cummins getting the nomination at Chicago. The telegram was in response to one asking if it were true that the colonel refused to give Cummins a chance.

Efforts of Governor Carroll, Taft adherent, to have the republican state convention today pass a resolution endorsing the platform adopted at the national convention failed being tabled, and his effort to eliminate from the report of the majority of the resolutions committee, the section condemning as fraudulent the Chicago convention, also failed. The progressives controlled the convention throughout.

Governor Carroll precipitated a demonstration for Roosevelt which lasted for more than twenty minutes when he said the national republican platform was not tainted.

ASKS SHEPPARD TO ABIDE BY PRIMARY BOOM TEXAN AS CANDIDATE OF DRYS

WOLTERS PREDICTS DEADLOCKED LEGISLATURE BEFORE CARTHAGE VOTERS.

Again Discusses Tariff Views—Is Confident He Has Senatorial Race Already Won.

(By Boyd Lochridge)

Dallas, July 10.—"Congressman Morris Sheppard should either declare himself to support the candidate who will receive the highest vote in the primary or he should quit the race," was the proposition laid down by Col. Jake Wolters in his speech at Carthage this afternoon before an audience of 500 Panola county citizens.

"Sheppard cannot honestly and consistently advocate the direct election of United States senators unless he joins me in an avowal to support the candidate who receives the highest vote in the primary," continued Col. Wolters, who further said that Sheppard was afraid to declare himself because he anticipated a deadlock legislature.

"We elect all our officers from governor down to plurality vote, then why not elect our senators in the same way?" he asked. Mr. Sheppard has much to say about Lorimer. Lorimer was the product of a deadlocked legislature, the very thing I am trying to prevent in Texas, but Sheppard has had nothing to say on this subject because he knows I have this race won and will get more votes than he will in the July election. I have said I would support the candidate who received the highest vote in the primary," argued Col. Wolters. "Then let Sheppard join me in this proposition if he is sincere in advocating the popular election of senators."

Free Hides Blow to Farmers.
Discussing his position on the tariff, Col. Wolters quoted from the state and county tax assessment rolls showing that more than two-thirds of the cattle in Texas are owned by the farmers and not by the so-called cattlemen and that free hides would affect the farmers who really own the bulk of cattle in this state. The speaker charged Sheppard with favoring the New England manufacturers to the detriment of the farmers of the south and west.

He said that if Mr. Sheppard would occasionally get away from his home in Arkansas, he might get acquainted with conditions in Texas. Throughout his campaign in East Texas, it has been evident that the farmers are deeply interested in the tariff; in fact they are more interested in this subject than in any other campaign argument and there is no question but that Col. Wolters' argument has drawn to the candidate a large support from all sections and classes while discussing his position of the tariff problem.

Col. Wolters again repeated his statement that although confident he had the race won, if the Baltimore convention had adopted a free raw material plank in the national platform, he would have promptly withdrawn, but that his position was in harmony with the platform which contained a plank for a tariff for revenue only and that it but Sheppard and Randall without the pale of the party.

Opening Arguing Difficult.

Col. Wolters reached Carthage at noon from Timpson, where he spoke last night before. He was met at the station by a committee of 150 followers who escorted the speaker to the court house where he addressed more than 500 citizens. During his trip through this section, Col. Wolters has had no more sympathetic audience than he had at Carthage. He was cheered throughout his address and following the speaker a large number of those present went forward to congratulate him.

Col. Wolters' trip through East Texas has been a period of strenuous campaigning. In motor cars, automobiles and freight trains he has invaded several almost inaccessible towns where the people appreciated the honor and extended the speaker many courtesies. He intended to speak at Beckville but he had to cancel the engagement. From Carthage Col. Wolters was taken to Longview in a motor car and will speak at Kaufman and Terrell.

RAMSEY AND CAMPBELL ARE ALLIED, COLQUITT STATES

Refers to Prohibition Question at Whitewright—Discusses Prison Reform.

Special to The Morning News.

Whitewright, Tex., July 10.—Gov. Colquitt spoke here tonight to a far the largest crowd ever assembled to hear a political speech. Governor Colquitt opened his talk by referring to the prohibition question, told why he was an anti and why he opposed statewide prohibition. He stated that if Ramsey was elected governor, Texas would have Tom Campbell for deputy, and that

ANDREW JACKSON HOUSTON OF BEAUMONT, SON OF GENERAL, MENTIONED.

Other Parties and Their Standard Bearer Are Flayed at Prohibition Meet.

By The Associated Press.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 10.—The eleventh national prohibition convention got under way here today, but at three sessions, progressed little beyond the preliminaries of organization. There were developments enough, however, to indicate a strong undercurrent of "insurgency" in the party and to forecast a fight by some of the delegates for a more progressive and aggressive attitude in the coming campaign.

As a part of the purpose for the overthrow of the existing order of things, it is said, a fight will be made on the floor for the election of a national chairman by the convention and not by the national committee.

In Denunciative Mood.

There likely will be a great many changes in the personnel of the committee. The feature of the day was the address of the temporary chairman of the convention, Clinton N. Howard of Rochester, N. Y., known as "The Little Giant." Mr. Howard aroused the thousand or more delegates to a high pitch of enthusiasm by roundly denouncing President Taft, Colonel Roosevelt and the republican and democratic parties in general. He claimed prohibitionists were the real progressives in politics and decried any attempt to throw their votes into other channels.

"We already have two whiskey parties and don't need another," he shouted. The delegates cheered the sentiments of the chairman. When he characterized President Taft as a "wet nurse to the saloons" there were shouts of "amen" from all corners of the convention hall. When he denounced Colonel Roosevelt as "the least desirable of all candidates," there was a prolonged demonstration of approval. Woodrow Wilson he disposed of with the faint praise: "A good man perhaps, but we have had good men in the white house before and they had gone out with the country more saturated with rum than it was when they went in."

So enthusiastic were the delegates over Chairman Howard's address that they ordered it printed as a campaign text book and started a genuine boom for Mr. Howard for president. His candidacy loomed large tonight and as the field is decidedly an open one, he is regarded as one of the potential factors.

Propose Texan's Name.
Late today the southern delegations proposed as a candidate for the presidential nomination Andrew Jackson Houston of Beaumont, Texas. Houston is a son of General Sam Houston. He is a lawyer and a staunch supporter of the prohibition party. The southern leaders have begun an active campaign in his behalf.

The convention is being held at the ocean end of one of the long piers jutting far into the sea. The fact that the convention hall was "entirely surrounded by water" was referred to in the address of welcome today.

while the conscientious pros were bearing the heat and burden of the campaign, that Ramsey was quietly on the banks of the Llano river fishing for different suckers to what he now is.

He took up prison reform and discussed the abolition of the bat since his administration. He exhibited a bat and declared that that was what Ramsey built the state railroad with white chairman of the penitentiary board, and that Ramsey never missed using convicts in competition with free labor whenever opportunity offered.

He then took the different reasons Ramsey had given Colquitt should not be re-elected and answered them in an able and logical manner. The initiative, referendum and recall was next taken up and discussed in an able manner, telling where it originated and why.

He was frequently applauded and it was evident the people were glad of the opportunity to hear Governor Colquitt present his claims for reelection. He also claimed that every platform pledge had been fulfilled to the letter in his administration.

KATY PUTS IT OVER TRACTION COMPANY

Working at Night, It Throws Grade
Over Other's Right of Way.

The Katy put one over on the Southern Traction company Tuesday night, when a force of forty men and twenty teams, working under cover of darkness, threw up a grade across the interurban right of way. The Katy will probably force the traction company to build its track over the Katy's.

Closing a deal Tuesday afternoon with a German for a small strip of land on either side of the interurban right of way two and a half miles north of Waco, the railroad company lost no time in paying its bid. The interurban company will be forced to build overhead and will be put to additional expense of $15,000 to $20,000. The Katy will use this grade as a route for Texas Central trains into the Katy depot.

DENNIS PLEASED WITH FURNITURE GOODS SALE

Thirty-three and one-third per cent off of furniture at R. T. Dennis & Co.'s is making the hearts of many Wacoans glad. said Mr. Dennis, "has been very satisfactory, and I leave Thursday for the northern and eastern markets, and hope to come back with the best in furniture that money can buy."

APPRAISEMENT FOR RIGHT OF WAY TO BE CONSIDERED

A committee composed of John Wright, F. L. Miller and Peyton Randle, representing the Business Men's club will this morning determine whether an appeal will be taken to the county court relative to the awards made by appraisers affecting the right of way by the Day's lake route for the interurban. Several awards are considered too high. The committee was appointed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the directors of the Business Men's club, who met for the first time in their new quarters on the seventh floor of the Amicable building. President E. W. Marshall presided.

LARGE CROWD WELCOMES NEW MEMBERS OF CHURCH

A large crowd assembled at the Central Christian church, Eleventh and Washington streets, last night, to welcome the more than eighty new members of the church. Exercises were held on the lawn, where a number of impromptu speeches, Japanese lanterns and other decorations were in evidence. Refreshments were served by the women of the church.

TWO ALIENISTS SWEAR THAW IS SANE

FEDERAL ASYLUM HEAD SAYS
INFERIORITY IS NO CAUSE
FOR DETENTION.

Thaw Family Is Paying Experts $250
a Day for Time—Work Twelve Days.

By The Associated Press.
White Plains, N. Y., July 10.—The last of the expert testimony by alienists was given in the Harry K. Thaw hearing today when Dr. William A. White, head of the federal asylum for the insane at Washington, and Dr. Charles K. Millis, a lecturer at Columbia University on mental diseases, gave it as their positive opinions that the slayer of Stanford White now is sane.

The head of the federal asylum declared that at his institution "constitutional inferiority" was not considered cause for the detention of men. He asserted that Thaw's characterization of Stanford White as a "gorilla" and a "blackguard" was emotionally justified.

The Thaws felt they had scored a point in the afternoon when William K. Olcott, formerly Thaw's lawyer, testified that in 1906 he had agreed to the idea of sending Thaw to an insane asylum without trial. The Thaws contended that this admission of Thaw's alleged delusion that is counsel and his alienists were in a "conspiracy" with the district attorney office in 1906 to send him to an asylum.

Anthony Comstock, president of the society for the prevention of vice, told on the stand of his investigation of reports of mistreatment of young women made to him by Thaw. He said conditions were as Thaw reported. Hot words often passed between W. T. Jerome, attorney for the state, and Clarence J. Shearn, counsel for Thaw, today. It is believed the case will reach the summing up stage by Monday.

An idea of what this hearing is costing the Thaw family was given today when Dr. White testified that he was receiving $250 a day and expenses. He and two other alienists retained by the Thaws have been here 12 days. They also devoted considerable time to the case before the hearing was opened.

few weeks when the plans for the eight-story home of the Behrens Drug Company are made known. This building will go up on the old church site, just opposite the Cotton Belt depot on Fourth street.

Said a prominent architect Wednesday: "I think Waco is now in the midst of the busiest building period of its life. The fall prospects are good. There is talk of a dozen or more big jobs in the business part of Waco while innumerable residences are contemplated. Waco is well represented in the trades and construction journals all over the south and southwest. Under the headings of 'Bids Wanted,' 'Contracts Awarded,' 'Buildings Contemplated,' you will find Waco mentioned several times in every issue."

WILSON WARNS AGAINST NA-TIONAL EXTRAVAGANCE AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Governor Tells Hearers What They Need Is Moral Pride as a Community.

By The Associated Press.
Atlantic City, July 10.—Governor Wilson talked for half an hour to 500 men this afternoon on the necessity of working today for results tomorrow and on the evil of individual and national extravagance.

The governor's audience was composed of delegates to the national convention of the United League of Building Leagues and the address he delivered was one of welcome on behalf of the state. Early in the afternoon he told 5000 residents of Atlantic City and their friends that their town was in need of moral pride; that a man was ashamed to be caught in a dirty trick and that a community ought to be ashamed to be caught in a dirty practice.

America among all the countries in the world needs a cultivated providence and I think it needs a cultivated providence with a big 'P.' American is recognized as a spendthrift country because in America we think we have inexhaustible resources but as our population thickens and our resources are more and more exploited, and the difficulties of our public problems increase, we are more and more aware that we are in need of a providence in the future."

POINTED LETTER FROM DALLAS MAN

MANAGER OF SOUTHWESTERN
ELK, MR. A. L. SAUNDERS,
WRITES VIEWS ON PLANT JUICE.

The following interesting letter is from Mr. A. L. Saunders whose home is 2208 Ross avenue, Dallas, Texas:

Dallas, May 19.

Col. A. F. Dillingham.

Dear Sir:
It has been my pleasure to use several bottles of your Plant Juice with a most desirable effect. Plant Juice was strongly recommended to me and after using the first bottle I was thoroughly convinced as to its merits as a tonic and cleanser. It removes that tired languid feeling, gives color to the cheeks and tone to the system; it is truly wonderful and all that is claimed for it. I take great pleasure in recommending it.

Yours very truly,

A. L. SAUNDERS.

Manager Southwestern Elk. Proof has been given over and over to the people of Texas that Plant Juice is the greatest curative agent of the times, many of the most prominent people have permitted the use of their names in the public press all over the state endorsing and recommending it. All who suffer from nervous debility, stomach, liver and kidney derangement will get quick and permanent relief from its use. Call at Old Corner Drug Store and get a bottle.

enthusiastic audience. He spoke for one hour and was liberally applauded. His speech was very much the same as those elsewhere. After the speaking several hundred crowded to the platform to shake hands with the speaker. He speaks in Olney, Jacksboro and Graham Thursday.

Judge Ramsey began his address by stating that he was making his address by stating that he was making his race to determine whether the masses should rule in this state or whether the legal interests should rule. He also advocated a reform in court procedure, improvement of the public school system, the nomination of candidates for state office by majority rule and closing of the saloons during the night. He discussed the raise of the tax rate from 4c to 4 1/2c by the present administration. He said the rate for 1909 was 5c on the $100, when there was no Waters-Pierce pie in the State Treasury. He said he forced the present governor to abolish the "bat" by advocating same in his Gonzales speech. He also advocated a general forward movement. He said Governor Colquitt had promised the people political peace, but said there was much war in official circles in Austin. He was given close attention and frequently applauded.

WOLTERS AT TIMPSON.

Reads Wilson Letter on Subject of Prohibition in Campaign.

Special to The Morning News

Timpson, Tex., July 9.—Hon. J. E. Wolters, candidate for United States senator, arrived in Timpson this afternoon from Henderson and tonight addressed a large number of voters and several ladies in Garrison Hall. The Timpson band was engaged to furnish the music.

Ralph Bogard, a young lawyer of the city, introduced Mr. Wolters. Col. Wolters' speech was on the same line as those he has been delivering all over the state. He criticized Morris Sheppard for bringing the prohibition question into the campaign. He read the letter from Woodrow Wilson condemning the injection of prohibition into politics. His discussion on the tariff question was given very close attention. He said the Baltimore convention left Sheppard and Randell without a platform. Mr. Wolters said he would rather be defeated and retire to private life with joy in his heart and laughter in his eyes than be elected with the aid of stringhalted politicians.

COUNTRY CLUB DANCE

FOR TUESDAY NIGHT

There was quite a pleasant venue for those who drove out to the Country club for the usual Tuesday night dance. There was nothing further than the music, the dancing and the general sociability among the members.

HOSTESSES FOR HUACO TEA

ON SATURDAY NIGHT

It is announced that Mrs. W. H.
Roberts will be hostess at the Huaco club for the 5 o'clock tea on Saturday. She will be assisted by Messames Lee Neblett, J. H. Lockwood,

Miss Mattie Jones.

MISS LOUEY TYLER HAS GUESTS AND ENTERTAINS FOR THEM

One of the parties in which the younger set had a charming time was that in which Miss Louey Tyler of North Sixteenth street, is a recent hostess. She entertained for her household guests, Misses Clara Richardson from Beaumont, and Gladys Sedwick from Albany. The lawn was decked with the colored lights, the usual lawn games were played, the refreshment feature was enjoyed, and, altogether, fifty little friends of Miss Louey and her visitors were made happy.

WEST AUSTIN DEPLETED WITHIN THE FORTNIGHT

There are already gone to summer homes from West Austin street
the M. A. Coopers, Miss Eddie May Riggins, Mrs. R. T. Dennis, Miss Hazel Jackson, the Misses Barrett and Mrs. J. J. Spennell. Now there are registered to leave within the next few days Mrs. P. R. Hengst for Springfield, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. R.
L. Armstrong for a tour of the east.
Mrs. J. W. Bass goes to Chicago.
This will leave an almost depleted neighborhood.

MR. AND MRS. GARRETT ENTERTAINED IN HOUSTON

During their two days in Houston,
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burke Garrett were guests in the Henry Martin home. Several pleasant parties were planned for them, one being an at-home, where Mrs. Martin invited friends, principally the wives of officials of the International & Great Northern. There was also a theater party, and other diversion to give emphasis to the hospitality of the Martin home.

MRS. DREYFUS QUITE ILL; FRIENDS ARE ANXIOUS

For three weeks Mrs. Dreyfus of North Twelfth has been a very sick woman. She has reached the age of four-score, hence her recuperative powers are weak. The outcome is feared, and her daughters have all come to their mother's bedside.
There are now with her Mrs. Dave Wiel of Houston, Mrs. Marcus and Mrs. Geisburg of Chandler, Okla.
Mrs. Rebecca Dreyfus Tobias of New York City, is expected. Mrs. Mike Strauss, the daughter with whom Mrs. Dreyfus makes her home, is a watchful and an anxious nurse.
In the meantime, friends are making daily inquiry.

MRS. GEER HAS CARD CLUB; THE TUESDAY BRIDGE

In entertaining the Tuesday bridge of which she is a popular member, Mrs. W. L. Geer added a contingent of special guests in compliment to her cousin, Mrs. Warren Moore, who is up from Austin for a month. This gave all the flourish of a summer card excitement. There were especially pretty prizes, since two, a fancy tea apron and an embrodered piece, were her own work.
The third was the always coveted silk hose. After the count of scores and the tilt at a high cut, the presentation found Mrs. Ernest Groos with the apron, Mrs. Scott Key of Haskell with the embroidered piece and Mrs. Ed Laughlin with the hose.
Mrs. Geer's refreshment feature was one of the delectable, appropriate to the hot summer afternoon. Her guests were Mesdames Groos, Laughlin, Key, Moore, William Early, Adrian Moore, Cullen Cooper, M. D.
Baker, Peyton Randle, William Edmond, Bayless Harrison, Guy Mc-Knight, Charles Parker, W. S. Witte,

MISS RICHARDSON RETURNS HOME TO BEAUMONT

Miss Geraldine Richardson is leaving New York for Beaumont.
She has been on a visit to her aunt,
Mrs. Belvidere Brooks, while making ready for her marriage, which comes with early autumn. The groom to be is one of the best known young men of his part of the state, Forest Goodhue of Beaumont.
The wedding journey will be taken to Europe, a tour, and a visit to Mr. Goodhue's mother, who is herself the bride of only a few weeks, and living in England. Miss Richardson is the eldest daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Richardson, who are known so favorably in this city.
She has made frequent visits to her grandparents, Judge and Mrs. G. B.
Gerald. The family as well as her many friends here are much interested in this event which means so much to her. The groom's father, the late John B. Goodhue, was one of the men who accumulated a fortune when the oil fields of Beaumont were on a boom. His investments in Beaumont were heavy and the Crosby hotel being one. Forest Goodhue is the only son. The details for the wedding are not yet given out. These materialize with the return home of Miss Richardson with the first of August.

PAYNE'S HOME SWEET HOME IN TULIERIES GARDEN

When one wanders over the beautiful Tuleries Garden, the city playground of Paris, there is no thought that this has a connection with America. And yet John Howard
Payne, the composer of "Home, Sweet Home," says: "It was in this garden that the words of 'Home, Sweet Home' first came to me. I had been pretty much all over the world and finally drifted to Paris.
I wandered penniless and thorowly
homesick. I liked the Tuleries.
The song of the birds, the sunlight through the trees, the fragrance of the flowers, all reminded me of home.
The sentiment of the song had been running through my head a long time, but I could not hit on a rhyme.
One evening as I rested in the Tul-eries and the stars peeped out, the strains of a beautiful Sicilian air came to my hearing. It was what I had waited for. I hurried home to my lodgings in a remote part of the city. Before morning my song was done." And that song is our
"Home, Sweet Home."

ANNUAL SUMMER DANCE OF THE BEAU NOT GIRLS

Since their organization several years ago, it has been the custom of the Beau Notes to have a grand dance at the Christmas holidays and another when vacation comes. The last was set for Tuesday night.
The young girls were more than generous with their invitations. They included the older society set, the college crowd and their own school friends, to the number of 200. Alex-sandro's orchestra was engaged for the ball room out at the Huaco club.
The programs were presented, together with a souvenir fan, altogether acceptable at this sizzling season.
There were favors and extras besides the engagement dances, sufficient to keep the merry feet a-tripping until a new day dawned. There were chaperones a-plenty, among them being Mesdames Clarence Hubby, Turner Hubby, Robert Flewellyn, Ralph McLendon, W. P. Beaumont, T. N.
McMullen. A number of visitors were noted on the floor. The Beau Notes took a leap year privilege and each invited her escort, but with the other guests there was the usual checking.
Those who contributed this delightful evening to midsummer gayety were Mesdames Lucile Lewis, Lucile Mayfield, Vashita Hibby, Ruth Rubby, Ella Flewellyn, Mary Ferrell, Mildred Smith, Alta Harrison, Marceline Fianaghn, Lalla Fay Lacy, Marie Beaumont, Fay Clinton.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT; MEFISTOFELE THE OPERA

It is the custom of all first-class band masters to make the most ambitious number on every concert program, an excerpt from a grand opera. Tonight Alessandro is to give a fragment from the great Mefistofele, that paraphrase upon
one of the great world dramas, Faust. Gounod made the great tone picture. Every great opera singer from his day to this has endeavored to take the roll of Marguerite. Every great concert singer has done something towards rendering the famous Jewel song. Those who have only superficial knowledge know the inspiring anvil chro-
us. Just as many know the inspiring Soldiers' Chorus.

Tonight there will be on Alexan-dro's program the Mefistofele. He,
the devil, is commanded to tempt Faust. It is a gala day. Angels come in a chorus. As soon as Faust opens his Bible, a friar appears. But that friar is the devil himself and offers to exchange his service for Faust's soul. Faust makes love to Marguerite, a guileless girl, who succumbs. She is cast into prison, convicted of killing her child, and here the minor tones and the solemn movements of the opera are heard. Marguerite dies in prison.
Faust regrets what he has done;
he prays, and the devil vanishes.
The notes in the arias follow this grave, gay sentimental and comical which last is the sinister words and actions of the devil, who woos
Martha, the companion of Marguerite.

Society Notes.

Miss Josephine Harwood, who has proved such a pleasing visitor to Miss Jimmie Riggins, is spending her last day in the city. On Friday she leaves for Louisiana, to spend ten days with friends in Shreveport, and then continues her journey home to Trenton.

Mrs. Charles Hamilton calls attention to having a silk parasol, green and white, left at her home when she entertained the Young Married Ladies' Card club in June.

Miss Susie Jones is escaped from the hurly burly of New York City for the country home, Millwood, Maryland, where she visits so frequently.

Mrs. W. E. Colgin and Miss Mo-nette Colgin are again at home from Marlin, to supervise the finishing touches to their handsome new home out on West Austin. It is hoped that the removal into the home can be made within this fortnight.

The Sul Ross park neighborhood is in pleasant anticipation over their first band concert for this season.
This takes place tonight and means veranda parties all along the line of the park face.

With its meeting with Mrs. W. L.
Geer the Tuesday Bridge club voted to disband for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. James B. Baker wrote a post card from St. Louis to announce that she and Mr. Baker had enjoyed a very pleasant passage so far, that they had as their traveling companion from Waco Mrs. Studie Dickson and from Dallas Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobson and daughters. Thus, the journey had been almost a traveling house party of Wacoans.

The News woman editor can almost feel silly on when each woman finishes her morning digest. Invariably the woman who has an item walks to the telephone to send that item in. These acts of thoughtless-ness are what keeps the woman's department so full of fresh, crisp news,
even though it be the social stagnation of a midsummer.

Mrs. Katie Oliphant, with her mother, Mrs. Lucy Kennan, on Wednesday removed to apartments at Ninth and Washington. These will have for their first visitor Mrs. Willie Chamberlain from Houston.

In these days when the watermelon is king, we are reminded of one of the aphorisms of Benjamin under his sayings of Poor Richard. There
he states that men, like watermelons, are hard to know. We all agree with Poor Richard when we find white seeds where we hoped for black.

Do not let your invitation lie in the card basket with its outer envelope. It looks too much like business. Remove the outer before the card basket is reached.

Wonder how many in their summer wanderings study the history of each locality. There is nothing short of fascination to know the legends around the old Indian haunts. Colorado has some story for almost every stone. So has Michigan. The east teems with Indian lore, while New England abounds with associations of the great men of American literature. So many travel with their eyes and not with their minds. The combination of the two is good.

Bangs and the continuance of the tight skirt is the first forecast for the coming winter.

Take a bunch of flowers or greenery to your husband's office desk.
Such will be so refreshing during the intensely hot days.

Do not try to wrestle with the French fashion and society phrases.
They are all out of date. Everything must be pronounced accordig to American usage, and the woman who twists her tongue into an abortive foreign effort is the woman who makes herself ridiculous. There was a time back in our grandmothers'
day when French was the evidence of the accomplished girl. Not so
now. We are seeking to be thoroughly American.

While their new home is building out at Highlands, Mr. and Mrs. James Mistrot are with Mrs. J. T. Egan out on Provident Heights. This removal is of recent date.

Just two more brides to declare themselves and we will be through for awhile.

Mrs. Charles Parker will within the next few days begin a round of Texas visits. This will keep her out of the city for several weeks.

Mrs. Katherine Padgett has reopened her home after a motor trip to Houston, and a few days at the Galvez. She is making ready for a guest, Mrs. Ross Padgett.

Miss Ida Orand is the guest of Mrs.
W. M. Foster for a few days.

The unfavorable condition of Mrs.
Lee Dewey detained her mother, Mrs.
R. M. Bain, in her departure for Little Rock. Mrs. Dewey is holding her own well and no concern is felt for her ultimate recovery from the severe operation which she has sustained.

Mrs. J. W. Orand has invited dinner guests for Friday. This is in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Bruton, from Comanche.

DIVORCED ONLY A DAY, IS BRIDE OF A DOCTOR

Dr. Alexander S. Ross of Camden, Marries Mrs. Laura Michelson.

Special to The Morning News.

Philadelphia, July 10.—In less than 24 hours after the New Jersey courts granted a divorce to Mrs.
Laura S. Michelson, a license to marry her was issued in this city yesterday to Dr. Alexander S. Ross of 608 Benson street, Camden, chief surgeon at the Cooper hospital.

Mrs. Michelson, who is 39 years old, has been housekeeper for Doctor Ross, who is 37 years old.

A pair who eloped from this city to Wilmington and were married on Monday encountered an obstacle yesterday, when the bridegroom was arrested on a charge of perjury. He is Harry C. Dryden, and his bride was Miss Marion Taylor, 14 years old, daughter of a real estate dealer living at 324 East Chelton avenue, Germantown.

Dryden, who said he is 24 years old, but who is declared by the police to be at least 40, accompanied Miss Taylor to Wilmington on Monday. They were wedded by the Rev. George L. Wolfe. The Taylor family is spending the summer at Pine Beach, and the first of the girl's father knew of the marriage was when he received a telegram from her asking forgiveness. His reply was to swear out a warrant for her husband's arrest.

A license was issued yesterday to Prof. George W. Elkins, head of the department of manual training and teacher of mechanical construction
at the Northeast Manual Training
high school, to wed Mrs. Clara B.
Proctor, a widow, living at 3536
North Eighteenth street. Professor Elkins' first wife died in 1909, and Mrs. Proctor's first husband died
the same year.

To avoid, they said, the "fuss"
of a wedding at home, Dr. Clarence Jamie Neilson, a physician of 1111
Spruce street, and Miss Pearl Emma Downs of the same address, went to Wilmington on Tuesday night and were married by the Rev. George L.
Wolfe. Doctor Neilson is a native of Salt Lake City, Utah, and he and his bride will make their home
there.

PLAN NAVAL AND MILITARY PACIFIC STATION

Special to The Morning News
Washington, July 10.—Broad plans of the army and navy joint board for the creation of an impregnable naval and military station in the Pacific have taken form in an order just issued for the appointment of a board of army officers to meet at Honolulu July 31.

This board consists of Brigadier General Montgomery M. Macomb, Lieutenant Colonel John F. Morrison, 21st Infantry; and Major Geo. Blakely, coast artillery. It is intended "to study the military problem of Oahu, upon which it is to be located, to demonstrate the proper mobile defense and necessary garrison, and to report upon mortar batteries and other fixed defenses as a subordinate phase of the general problem of defense."

EQUAL SUFFRAGE ENDORSED BY TEACHERS

DECLARE FOR INVESTIGATION OF SALARIES REGARDING HIGH LIVING COST.

E. T. Fairchild of Topeka, Kan., Is Elected President of the Association.

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, July 10.—As yet from electing as president E. T. Fairchild of Topeka, Kansas, after a heated contest in which Chicago teachers were severely criticized by New York members for "behind the curtain tactics," the national educational association, representing more than 15,000 educators, today went on record as favoring:

Woman suffrage, "because women teachers realize the responsibility of training youth for citizenship."

Promotion of international peace. An investigation of teachers' salaries throughout the country with reference to the high cost of living.

A uniform federal law for marriage and divorce.

Promotion of plan for an international university.

For Pupils' Health.

Extension by congress of plans for training in agriculture, domestic economy and other industrial work in various institutions.

Greater attention in public schools to health of pupils.

Study of rural and city school administrations, vocational education and hygiene and higher education, including the training of teachers.

More attention by teachers to the individual necessities of pupils for a training that will fit them for a definite purpose in life.

That school playgrounds provide at least one square rod for each pupil.

That a greater spirit of altruism be inspired in school work.

Against Military Training.

The association condemned compulsory military training in schools not especially designated as military schools. A contest between the so-called "progressives" and the "old guard" over a change in the by-laws was deferred. Some minor changes were ordered but an amendment to insert a "recall" clause as effecting officers was referred to a committee to report next year.

The candidacy of Miss Grace C. Strachan, district superintendent of schools, Brooklyn, New York, for president, in opposition to Mr. Fairchild, brought on a fight. After the nominating committee had reported in favor of Mr. Fairchild, Miss Strachan's friends openly charged he had been selected at a caucus to which the New York members had not been invited. Miss Katherine D. Blake and Matilda Coffin Ford of New York, accused the Chicago teachers of conducting the campaign behind the curtain of the auditorium, where the convention was held. They asserted a delegation from the Chicago principals' club had gone to New York to induce Miss Strachan to withdraw, although Miss Strachan two years ago at Boston had supported Mrs. Ella Flagg Young of Chicago for president.

Miss Strachan Takes Floor.

Miss Strachan herself took the floor and charged the Chicago teachers had attempted to make capital out of the fact that she brought a letter of introduction from Mayor Gaynor of New York to Mayor Harrison of Chicago. "I am sorry to say I would have thought a great deal more of Chicago people and Chicago tactics had remained away," said Miss Strachan.

Miss Margaret A. Haley, of the Chicago teachers' federation, circulated an affidavit in which she said that while the Chicago teachers recognized the work done by Miss Strachan to secure equal pay for men and women in New York, still they sought to impress upon her that it would be unwise for her to run for president at a time when it was hoped progressive amendments to the by-laws, intended to liberalize the association, would be passed. Miss Haley declared a Miss McLeary urged Miss Strachan to induce "a good book company to help her out." Thomas W. Bicknell, Providence, R. I., advocating Mr. Fairchild's election, said:

"Can Wait Year."

"Miss Strachan is an admirable woman and has done much good in New York and elsewhere for education. This association is proud of her. But she can wait another year and perhaps we will elect her then."

Miss Strachan then took the floor and charged the Chicago teachers with attempting to "control not only the present election but future elections."

Whatever friends she had in the book business, she said, were those who have been known to her for years and to intimate that she might influence others by them was unjust.

A motion to substitute Miss Strachan's name for that of Mr. Fairchild was lost and Mr. Fairchild was declared elected.

For Higher Salaries.

Before the election Miss Strachan received rounds of applause for an address she delivered on teachers' salaries. She told of her work in New York where she had fought for years to obtain for women teachers a salary equal to those of men when the same service was given. Her declaration that teachers should be free to discuss the salary question without fear of losing their positions brought forth prolonged cheers.

Dr. Jos. Swain, president of the Swarthmore college, reported on an investigation conducted in Denver, Cincinnati, Atlanta and New Haven of teachers' salaries in relation to the high cost of living. He said 1705 replies had been received to questions that had been sent out. The replies showed a need of higher salaries commensurate with a higher efficiency, he said.

The convention adopted a resolution authorizing the committee on teachers' salaries and the cost of living to take steps to bring its findings to the attention of congress and the president of the United States.

In addition to the president, the following officers were elected:

Treasurer, Grace M. Shepperd of Idaho; vice-president, Carroll G. Pearce, Wisconsin; Guy Potter Benton, Vermont; Miss Mary Stromburg, Maryland; W. T. Barbee, West Virginia; B. W. Torreyson, Arkansas; Mrs. Helen W. Nixon, Colorado; L. R. Alderman, Oregon; Agnes E. Howe, California; Ada Van Stone Harris, Virginia; Amelia C. Fruchte, Missouri; and Cornelia Hultz, Michigan.

Directors of the different states were also elected.

TURKISH MINISTER RESIGNS.

By The Associated Press.

Constantinople, July 10.—Mahmoud Shekret Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, whose military ability made possible the change of regime in Turkey, resigned his office today. His resignation arises from the dissatisfaction of the minister of war himself over his alleged failure to read the signs of military disaffection which culminated in the recent mutiny in Albania.

KNIVES ARE OUT FOR SPEAKER CLARK

MOVE TO BLOCK RE-ELECTION OF CHAMP CLARK INSPIRED BY BRYAN, IS REPORT.

Special to The Morning News.

Washington, July 10.—A movement has been started to defeat Speaker Champ Clark for re-election as presiding officer of the house.

Friends of the speaker, hearing that definite steps had been taken to create opposition to him in the Democratic caucus of the house, hurried to his home this afternoon to advise the Missourian of the situation. Just what came of this conference was not given out, but it is known that Mr. Clark will make a vigorous fight for re-election to the speakership, regardless of the opposition that may arise.

Friends of William J. Bryan are reported to be behind the move to name a new speaker. They are said to be influenced by the charges of treachery against the Nebraskan made by the speaker and his friends following the action of the Baltimore convention.

The Bryan people resent the charge that the Nebraskan leader wantonly "knifed" an old friend. They say that when the speaker combined with the conservatives to defeat Bryan for the temporary chairmanship, and ultimately to control the party nomination, he put himself on the defensive, and not Bryan.

This feeling, according to information available today, has resulted in the revolt in the house against the speaker. Whether or not it will assume definite form or end in a false alarm will be seen later.

Friends of Speaker Clark take the position that it would be a blunder to humiliate the speaker by deposing him as the official head of the Democratic organization of the house. They say that Mr. Clark's friends are needed to make the success of Governor Wilson possible, and that no sincere friend of the Jerseyman would participate in a movement certain, they say, to react in the end upon Governor Wilson.

THE STORY OF THE HOME.

Two years ago, two loving hearts were united and started happily on the voyage of life, with the sanction and blessing of the church, love at the masthead, a signal light, and faith secure and deep—an anchor for the storms of life. They ran the keel of their little vessel into the bank of a pebbly beach, where they moored in a protected harbor. Going ashore, they chose site a ways apart from other cottagers and there, with a prayer to God for guidance, they laid the cornerstone of their home. Outside labor they permitted to contract the house, but when it came to interior decoration they sent away the carpenters and stonemasons, for within the four walls of their sacred precinct, home, none should enter. With love again lighting the way, they worked like two happy birds, building their home nest. In their bed chamber the virginal white of the maiden's former sleeping room blushed rosy pink under love's transforming touch and the frescoes told the story of laughing Cupids. Below stairs things were a bit more dignified, for there the woodwork was stained a dark rich coloring and the smooth floors told of days of careful handling. A cottage piano and an exquisitely wrought home-built book-case filled with treasured books told that the two were possessed of literary and artistic temperaments and where in the wintertime they rested before the Dutch tiled fireplace with its ruddy cheerfulness; sometimes she wandered to the piano and sang rapturously of home and happiness and the joy of life together; again she sat close beside him in the deep recesses of the Morris chair, with her heart beating happily against his while they gazed in the ruddy embers and worshipped anew at their altar of home.

Time passed and love, lulled for the nonce into quiet happiness, began to clamor for a fuller fruition. All unawares it stole into their ambition and at once the subtly sweet thought of a guest room rose like fragrant incense from their altar. Before the fire, they sat and planned new work for their artistic hands. It should have a white enameled bed and white dressing table to fit a niche in the wall, and a chair, where the guest should sit at ease for a toilet. The very rugs should be spotless white and woven, for no hands save theirs and no minds save theirs should share the pleasure of this latest, loveliest task. So, when spring smiled in the verdant meadows and peeped from the pink buds of the dogwood they rested from their new labors and were glad. The bed was all in white, its dainty valance in harmony with the frilled white curtains, the initials on the linen showing that she was mistress of needlecraft. Over their dainty breakfast of figs and cream and home-baked nut sweetbread and butter they smiled across the table, and she followed him to the doorway to send him forth to his daily task full of strength and rejoicing because her good-bye kiss was on his lips. The memory of the kiss and the sweetness of her clung to him through the long day in the city and brought him back most eager when the day was done to her side in the dear little nest. As spring nestled in the embrace of summer, the green meadows were flecked with daisies, and over their vine trellised garden the morning glory and Virginia creeper flamed into a riot of bloom and the honeysuckle flaunted its sweet perfume in wasteful excess. At eventide, when the stars hung low or the moon was in her zenith, a nightingale sang seductively of the summer sweetness, and, like the season, their love waxed stronger.

Then came the blessed moment when with her face hid in his breast she whispered the sweet secret that a tiny craft was afloat on the sea of their lives and that ere the autumn came the fullness of perfect love together would be realized. That told the story of the little white guest chamber which stood waiting just beside theirs, a pure and sacred spot for the dear one coming to complete their lives.

Anon came the time of travail, when the little wife proved her right to the title of mother and gained a place in heaven, for after such a proof who can ever deny mothers the right to enter that holy sanctuary? And while the dear little mother lay, worn with pain and white-faced from the wonderful thing which had come to her, from her eyes shone the transfiguration of her soul and happiness crept into a smile about her tender mouth. On her face shone the glory of motherhood and there were angels near to lay the wee babe to her breast. Oh, the majesty, the glory, the happiness the joy of motherhood!

With the coming of the babe, their love took on even a holier tone, and they thought with ever increasing reverence of the mother church whose blessings had hovered over their hearts and home. So, when the time came they took their treasure, their token of love, to the sanctuary and there, 'neath God's holy altar, the dear baby was christened and signed with the sign of the cross, by which holy emblem its life shall ever be guided.

This is a simple picture of a home nest glorified by love and right living; a picture perhaps of your own happy lives wherein love has shone as a benediction and rational religion as a blessing, and if it recalls the same sweet sacred moments in your own lives which came to the two in the story, its purpose has been fulfilled, for in this day of many indiscretions, of weak wills and weaker faiths, where sin destroyeth homes and little children are never brought to God, how refreshing and wholesome and sweet is the direct, simple lesson it teaches! Will you tell it to your children? It is one which comes true as the truest, sweet as the sweetest, and as pure as the two who made a paradise of home, just as others may if they so desire.

TWELVE INNING GAME IS WACO - VICTORY 6-5

BECK, AKIN AND McLAURIN TIE
SCORE AND BRING IN WINNING RUN.

Miller, Wild, Relieved After Sixth.
Ninth Inning Rally Beats
Fort Worth.

By Whooppee.
Waco took the opener yesterday from Fort Worth by a score of 6 to 5, and the "antes," "raising" and "raising 'em back" began coming with so much irregularity after Waco scored its first four runs in the fifth that a real ball game resulted. Honor for winning, incidentally $5.20, goes to Beck, and to Akin, incidentally $10.20, but $3 goes to the Texas league, that being the amount of a fine assessed by Umpire McKee for disputing a decision. McLaurin also gets some glory, but no money. Fort Worth tied the score in the sixth, getting four runs, and landed another in the seventh. In the last half of the ninth Beck and Akin tied the score for Waco, and then began some playing that ended only with the last half of the twelfth, when Beck landed another two-bagger and was scored by McLaurin's single, Beck having advanced on Akin's sacrifice.

Miller Relieved.
Vic Miller, who started the game for Waco yesterday, was relieved after the sixth. For some unaccountable reason, Miller was unseemingly wild, passing seven men in the six sessions. Only one, however, resulted in a run. Miller's hold on the affections of the fans was absent yesterday, a cheer going up when he was relieved by Jost. Jost lasted until the ninth, when Reilly went in to bat for him. When the score was tied by Beck, Ogle was assigned to mound duty. Phillips, for Fort Worth, was in the game for eleven and one-third innings, being relieved by Maple, who was touched for the single that netted the winning run. Akin was fined $5 in the ninth, when, with two out, Beck hit for two bases, and Akin singled, scoring Beck. Akin, trying to reach third, was called out by Umpire McKee and a war of words began. The fans, headed by "Bill" Burroughs, evidently held the same opinion as did Akin, and contributed $15.40. Of the amount, $10.20 was given to Akin, and $5.20 to Beck.

Runs by Fours.
Waco scored the first four runs in the fifth, Tanner, first up, getting a single, stealing second, and being followed by Crichtlow, Carson, Beck and McLaurin all of whom singled. A sacrifice by Akin helped Beck, who was brought in by McLaurin. The fifth score was made in the ninth, when, with two out, Beck hit for two bases to left field and was followed by Akin, who hit a long single and scored him, also tying the score. A better start was secured in the twelfth, Beck being first up. Again he hit for two bases, and being advanced by Akin's sacrifice, scored on McLaurin's single.

The Panthers scored first in the sixth, Frierson leading off with a triple to right field. He was scored by Murch's hit. Murch was later caught at third, following a pass by Miller to Moore and a drive by Lemon to first, on which he reached the base. Cooper then hit for two bases and scored Moore and Lemon, and was himself scored by Thompson's hit. Salm scored for the visitors in the seventh, getting a double and coming in on Moore's hit. Moore was caught trying to reach second.

Not Enough English.
Crichtlow's failure to use enough "English" cheated him out of a home run in the second inning yesterday, the ball clearing the left field fence by several feet. It was about ten feet outside the foul line. A change in the lineup was necessary yesterday, Dugue, second baseman, being ill. It was his first absence this year, but it afforded Beck an opportunity to demonstrate his ability. Although hits were numerous yesterday, Waco getting fifteen and Fort Worth nine, not an error was made.

By The Associated Press.

Austin, July 10.—Timely hitting in the tenth inning drove in two runs for Dallas today and won the game by a score of 5 to 3. It was one of the prettiest contests ever seen on the local field. The feature was the excellent work of Ashton, who pitched for the Senators. With two on bases and none out in one of the early innings, he mowed down three of the Giant sluggers by the strike-out route.

Galveston, July 10.—Pounding the ball for fifteen hits and taking advantage of the many errors and bone-headed plays of the locals, Houston romped away with the opener of the series here this afternoon by a score of 10 to 1. The league leaders made the tailenders look foolish in almost every inning, the last two innings being roaring farces, with the battered Pirates as the goats. Galveston's one run came in the seventh inning, when Hovel scored from first on a single which went through Landreth in right field.

A new census report about the male voters of the country says that there are 26,999,151 men in the United States who are old enough to vote. Of these, 3,611,278 are foreign-born whites not naturalized, so that the voting strength of the country is a little more than 23,000,000. Less than fifteen million votes were cast in the last presidential election.

Nearly 49 per cent of our present male inhabitants of voting age are native whites of native parentage. Over 16 per cent more (4,500,000) are native white of foreign or mixed parentage. Eleven per cent (3,000,000) are foreign-born whites naturalized.

Nine million males of voting age live in cities of more than 25,000 inhabitants. Of these only 22 per cent are of native-born parentage, but 45 per cent are native-born of foreign or mixed parentage. Here in New York there are nearly a million and a half males of voting age, of whom not much more than one-third are native-born, and only 229,362 native-born of native parentage. Evidently there are votes enough to be had this year, and of ample variety. What a very large and expensive job it is going to be to get due proportion of them cast!

meet war expenditure, and an aggressive forward policy in extending the commerce of the country, in providing better educational facilities and in colonial adventuring. The result of extravagant governmental outlay is shown in the heavy advance in the cost of living, involving as it does a consequent reduction of wages. The workers can no longer subsist on the wages they get. Japan is a poor country, and the suffering is greater there than in other countries richer in natural resources and in productive capacity, but the problem of bringing income and outgo into some more nearly equivalent relation seems to be worldwide. It is the uppermost matter of the attention of the people of the United States this year of our Lord. Japan has no monopoly of breakfast-table distress.—Philadelphia Record.

PREDICTS WILSON WILL CARRY NATION

COL. BALL RETURNING FROM BALTIMORE IS OPTIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK.

Says Nomination of New Jerseyman Is Great Triumph for the People.

Special to The Morning News.

Houston, Texas, July 10.—Col. Thomas H. Ball, erstwhile leader of progressive democracy in Texas, staunch believer in Governor Woodrow Wilson and personal and political friend of William Jennings Bryan, has returned home from Baltimore, where he aided the securing of the New Jersey executive nomination for presidency of the United States. Col. Ball arrived in Houston early Tuesday morning, three days late, having been delayed because of a wreck in South Carolina. About the convention he seems jubilant, predicts the election of Governor Wilson, the elimination of Roosevelt's third party, and the success of Judge W. F. Ramsey in the Texas primaries.

"The nomination of Governor Woodrow Wilson was a great triumph of the people," said Colonel Ball. "I think furthermore that his election is certain, which means that the people will come into their own, after so long a time. His success means that the interests have been relegated to a back seat."

Roosevelt Eliminated. "Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his third party are eliminated by the nomination of Governor Wilson. I do not believe the attempt at a third party will be put into effect, and know that many of those who were at first heartily in sympathy with the movement are now Wilson admirers. Thousands of progressive republicans will flock to the cause of the New Jersey man, and pay allegiance to progressive democracy."

Governor Osborn of Michigan, one of the original "seven governors" who lined up with Colonel Roosevelt in the third party movement, has already openly announced an active support of Governor Wilson. That means that the supporters of Governor Osborn will do likewise. He is not the only one by any means—there are hundreds of other prominent men who are going to the banner of the New Jersey executive before the election in November.

"What about the fight in Baltimore—was the success of Governor Wilson ever in doubt?"

"Never seriously so. It was a fight strictly between the people and the bosses or interests. They made a desperate effort to win by downing Governor Wilson—and in fact it was Wilson against the field. Any person, almost, in the contest, would have been more acceptable than the New Jersey man. They tried every conceivable plan to eliminate him from the battle, but the supporters remained loyal."

"That is the reason I say his success was never in doubt, after the line had been drawn. There was not a state but had some Wilson supporters, despite the fact that many states had instructed against him. When the true status became known, the original, instructed delegates remained solid, did not give an inch and fought at every stage of the game. The bosses and interests were whipped a little at a time until the last grand stand, and failure to accomplish."

"Aside from the actual convention situation, what contributed most to Governor Wilson's nomination?"

The Independent Press. "The independent press of the country. Without the aid of the press we might have been fighting yet, or might have lost. But the press remained just as loyal as the delegates, and, of course, was rewarded with the New Jersey man's success. The press will continue to be in the fight until the last ballot is cast in November, too, and the cause will win—mark the prediction."

Representatives of the independent press were stationed right in front of the Texas delegation. That helped some all around. I was told too that 50 per cent of the representatives of the papers, as individuals, were strong Woodrow Wilson men. Their papers were too, of course, and their work counted. Some brilliant newspaper work was done in Baltimore, and history was made that cannot be forgotten."

"What about Col. Bryan and his spectacular fights?"

"While many things that Colonel Bryan said and did were harshly criticized, his meaning was the best and for the best. He took the lead in the fight for the progressives, and won of course. Col. Bryan's attitude brought down wrath from some sections and delegations, but the cause triumphed in the end."

"What effect will the National convention have on the state convention to be held in August?"

"It will have no noticeable effect, probably, excepting to make progressive democracy in Texas more solid. The nomination of Woodrow Wilson will make more certain the results in Texas, and may have a slight effect at the convention. It will be for the good, however."

Predicts Ramsey's Success.

"What do you think of Judge Ramsey's chances?" "Judge Ramsey will be nominated for governor of Texas. Progressive democracy is sweeping the country, and Texas is the home of

it. That the Cleburne man will receive the nomination in the July primaries, I have no doubt. His success is assured."

Texas is strictly speaking a progressive state in every way. Politics is not the least thing she is progressive in, but just now a most important thing. The old regime will be swept from the state just as clean as the new idea can sweep. The first convention was a starter, the August convention will climax the movement."

Colonel Ball did not return by way of Seagirt, New Jersey, the home of Governor Wilson, as he had intended, being almost worn out, physically, after the long fight at Baltimore. After a few days' rest, and catching up with office business, Colonel Ball may take an active part in the state campaign, and especially Judge Ramsey, who is scheduled to speak in Houston next Wednesday night.

PLUNGING TO DEATH, GIRL SAVES BROTHER
Springing Over An Embankment, She Twists Body, Pushing Him To Safety.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, July 10.—Six-year-old Annie McGuire is dying in Reception hospital. Women who are found taking the air on East End avenue today told the story of Annie's heroism in face of death. They told how she had fallen from the embankment wall along that avenue at the foot of Eighty-first street, but even as she fell, turned her body sufficiently to throw her brother, Francis, two years her junior, to safety. Francis fell on the top of the wall, but Annie, with a scream, fell over the low rail atop the wall and dropped into Exterior street, 30 feet below.

It was Annie's delight to climb the embankment wall and watch the big ships go past in the East river. There has not been a great deal of joy in the McGuire home lately. Annie's father, Patrick, a leather trimmer, had been out of work for the last two months and last Monday they were dispossessed from their home at 1552 First avenue.

Their furniture was on the sidewalk until Tuesday evening, and then somebody was found to take care of it. Annie and two brothers, Hugh, aged 12, and Francis, with their parents, found a home with Mrs. Castas, at 328 East Seventy-eighth street. Two other children, John, 11, and Mary 9, were cared for by an aunt.

Perhaps it was the heat. Perhaps it was because food had not been plentiful in the McGuire home lately. Some say the weight of Francis was a little too much for Annie as she held him up. At any rate, the women along the avenue saw her fall forward. Suddenly she twisted her body and in a flash she threw her brother back to the wall. Then she fell like a stone. Dr. Miller of the Reception hospital, said she could not live.

HIS LAST WORDS.

His companions bent over him with pitiful earnestness and stared beseechingly into his waxen features. Again came the flutter of the eyelids, but this time his will mastered approaching death. His lips weakly struggled to execute his last commands, and the friends bent closer to hear the faltering whisper: "I am—gone? Yes—er—I know. Go to Millie. Tell her—er—I died with—her name on—my lips; that I—er—have loved—her—her alone—er—always. And Bessie—tell—er—tell Bessie the same thing."—Exchange.

STRIKE AS WEAPON MAY BE ABANDONED

Labor Leaders in England Urge Legislation To Achieve Results.

Special to The Morning News.
London, July 10.—War against the strike as a weapon for workmen has been declared by some of the old-time labor leaders of Great Britain, including men who have heretofore advocated extreme measures to obtain better wages and conditions.

Philip Snowden, one of the cleverest of the Socialist members of the house of commons, was among the first to sound the warning that the men were gaining nothing by continued strikes.

Keir Hardie, his more extreme colleague, says he is more than ever convinced that legislative action would produce more permanent results than could be hoped for from strikes. Reform enacted for the state, he says, becomes permanent and cannot be taken away but concessions won by a strike during good times might be lost by a lockout in bad times. Therefore, labor representatives should be sent to parliament to enact the right kind of legislation.

Mr. Hardie instanced the late attempt of the national strike of transport workers, which dismally failed, as a case of how things should not be done.

The union officials are beginning to realize that trades unionism is not in a healthy state in England at present. Last year men went on strike against the advice of their leaders and gained little or nothing. This year the officials ordered the strikes, but the men, following the more astute leaders, refused to respond. The fall in the bank balances of the unions and the failure in most cases to secure any appreciable benefits through strikes have made the men more cautious.

SAYS CITY OK OMAHA MISREPRESENTED BONDS

Special to The Morning News.

New York July 10.—A suit against the city of Omaha, Neb., has been started in the state supreme court here by Clarence H. Venner of C. H. Venner & Co., a Wall street banking concern, whose complaint charges that the city owes him $14,000 because he bought its bonds to the extent of $600,000 on alleged misrepresentations sent broadcast in a circular said to be issued by Omaha and distributed by Fred H. Cosgrove controller of that city.

Venner states in his complaint that the representations in the circular as to the value of the assessed property in the city of Omaha and the tax rate are fraudulent. Had the representations been true, he says he would have been able to sell the bonds within 30 days at a profit of $9000. He sues for the $9000 anticipated profit and the $5,000 advanced in part payment for the bonds.

COTTON IS RAISED TO NEW HIGH LEVEL

MARKET ADVANCES 23 TO 24 POINTS OVER YESTERDAY'S CLOSE.

By The Associated Press.

New York, July 10.—The high point of cotton was raised to a new level today, the market advancing 23 to 24 points over yesterday's close. Most of this occurred around the opening, when the market was influenced by strong cables, active outside buying and a number of very bullish crop reports, particularly from the Memphis district.

In fact, crop news today was less favorable than at any time since the real advance started a week ago. Texas came in for a good deal of criticism, owing to hot, dry weather and boll weevil complaints were heard from Mississippi and Alabama.

It was noted, however, that in the forecast fair conditions were expected in these two states, with local showers elsewhere in the eastern belt leading to the belief that the long continued wet spell might be on the verge of breaking. With this in mind, and actuated also by the fact that big shipping orders seemed to have become exhausted with the opening, bear traders became increasingly aggressive after the first hour and succeeded in forcing the market off 15 to 16 points from the top on new crop positions the close being steady at 4 to 11 points net advance.

The strong spot situation, with southern markets generally 5¢ higher, coupled with the obvious uncertainty of crop conditions, particularly in Texas, prevented any violent break.

NORTHWEST STORM NEWS BRACES WHEAT

UNTIL DETAILS OF INJURY ARE KNOWN, PRICES PURSUE ERRATIC COURSE.

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, July 10.—Fear that storm damage in Minnesota would prove serious had a bracing effect on the price of wheat today. The market closed steady, 1 1/4 @ 1 1/2c higher than last night. Latest trading left corn ranging from 1/4c off to 1c up, oats strung out from 1/4c decline to 1c up, and provisions increased in cost 1 1/2 @ 20c.

Wheat pursued an erratic course until details of injury by the storms in Minnesota caught the attention of the crowd. The market opened firm on account of the government report showing reserves to be the smallest in years. This influence, however, was offset by assurances that public storage room for new crop wheat here had been arranged on an ample scale. Then prices rallied because of liberal flour sales northwest. Bullish sentiment in the last hour received additional impetus from assertions that the wheat supply for the coming year is 25,000,000 bushels less than a year ago, even if there should be no loss to the spring crop during the critical next few weeks.

Hot winds in central and western Kansas were held responsible for the overturn of bearish sentiment in corn. Much of the depression proved due to the government report confirming the estimate of a yield far in excess of last year. Cash grades steady.

Oats reacted with wheat and corn and short sellers were in a stampede and covered early.

Provisions went the way of quotations for grain, sagging under free sales and then rallying with a vim. Lard led in the late advance and wound up 17 1/2 @ 20c dearer than last night. Pork and bacon were more expensive by 7 1/2 @ 15c.

STOCKS CLIMB ON GOVERNMENT REPORT

BRISK RISE IS NOTED IN AMALGAMATED COPPER—METAL IS SENSITIVE.

By The Associated Press.

New York, July 10.—The government report, published late yesterday, was used as a lever with which to move prices upward in the early part of today's stock market session. The returns seemed to convey the impression that the more important cereals promised exceedingly well and it was generally assumed that further improvement had set in since the official figures were compiled.

There was also a brisk rise in amalgamated copper, based in a measure on improved copper conditions abroad, but the metal market remains exceedingly sensitive, with indications of a widely extended speculation. One of the few important features of the day was the publication of the United States Steel Corporation statement of unfilled tonnage on hand June 30. This showed an increase of 56,363 tons over the preceding month, the grand total being 5,807,346 tons, a figure which only has been exceeded in almost three years.

The trading in steel was relatively large and its undertone was strong at the outset but later all leading issues sold off precipitately, lowest prices being registered in the last hour to the accompaniment of considerable activity.

Board road room gossip attributed much of the selling to out of town sources and was inclined to regard the movement as in the nature of a bear drive. The bond market was lower and generally irregular. Total sales par value aggregated $3,728,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

Editorial Page of Waco Morning News

Y. M. B. L. EXTENSION TRIP.

The "live wires" of Waco are on the road again in the interest, not alone of themselves, but of the entire community. A citizen of a community is worth just so much to his city as he is willing to co-operate with its other citizens, and each representative on these trade trips establishes his firm's and his individual worth at 100 per cent by co-operating in making them a success. And the material advantage is not to be lightly considered. Today's trade trip carries the Waco emissaries into one of the richest sections of the state, and a hearty hand-shake, an encouraging word will do much toward winning and holding the trade of the towns visited. It is also the personal element in exploiting the Cotton Palace which will do much toward increasing its importance, usefulness and value.

Waco's natural advantages as a trade center, its location as regards population, its seven railroads, the rich territory surrounding it, the advantageous freight rates to be made more so by the advent of water rates, its wide-awake citizenship, its financial wealth, all make up a harmony that can be sung best from the hearts of those attuned by the "do it" spirit actuating these trips.

The schedule of comparative freight rates compiled by the Waco Freight Bureau, showing the enormous saving to the merchants of the towns visited today in freight on goods purchased from Waco as compared with goods purchased from St. Louis and New York, is an argument that needs only presentation. This is a story that should be heralded far and wide and will accrue to the benefit of the city.

With the continued harmonious and well directed efforts of organizations like the Young Men's Business League and the Waco Freight Bureau, the time is not far distant when Waco will assume the proud position of the largest distributing point in Texas. Nature has done her part. She intended that a great city be builded here, and a hustling, progressive citizenship, working co-operatively as on these trips, is on the road to carrying out nature's plans.

A prominent Texas business man of another city was asked a few days ago, "What is the best investment in Texas?" "My advice is buy real estate in Waco," was the prompt reply.

If the republican nominee for president is a receiver of stolen goods, the offense is still not an indictable one, for the stolen property is without value.

Every grain of corn and every boll of cotton contribute to the greatness and glory of Central Texas and its foremost principality, Waco.

In spreading the gospel of Waco the trade excursionists today are performing a service not only for Waco, but for the entire section they traverse.

If some one asks "Is it warm enough for you?" don't reply hastily unless you are a candidate for governor or senator.

Texas will soon cut the biggest melon that grows on the vine of industry and resourcefulness.

A pleasant day and a prosperous journey is the wish of every patriotic Wacoan for the trade evangelists today.

Doesn't it exactly fit the case to say that Waco is the sparkling diamond in the shirt bosom of Central Texas?

HEAT KILLS SCORE.
NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

Weather Bureau Offers No Hope of Let-Up from Torrid Wave.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, July 10.—A few tantalizing thunder showers that pattered vainly on burned fields and scorching pavements were the only hopes of relief in sight tonight from the wave of humid heat that has enveloped the country. From east and west tonight the weather bureau received reports of intense heat. A score or more of deaths were reported from various cities.

"There is no relief in sight," said the forecaster at the weather bureau. "Temperatures are gradually rising and the reports show the likelihood of further increase tomorrow. The heat wave, from all indications, probably will continue for some time."

KANSAS CITY GIRL IS ATTACKED BY A NEGRO

Miss Hazel Hill Alone in Farm House, Found Gagged and Bound in Chair.

Special to The Morning News.

St. Louis, Mo., July 10.—Miss Hazel Hill of Kansas City, was bound, gagged and attacked and then tied to a chair in the home of Arch Hendrick, a farmer living near Troy, Kas., across the river from St. Joseph, early this afternoon, when a strange negro entered the house and found the girl alone. Hendrick was in a field near by at work, and his wife had just gone to a neighbor's when the attack was made. Miss Hill is prostrated by the shock tonight, and is in a hysterical condition. She was unable to give any details of the affair.

The girl's unconscious form was found by Mrs. Hendrick on her return to the house. Evidently Miss Hill in her struggles to free herself or to fight off her assailant, had fallen to the floor, still bound to the chair, and was lying there when found.

After his attack on Miss Hill the negro ransacked the house, and took jewelry, money and other valuables. Evidently he left in haste, for part of the things were found in the road in front of the house.

Officers from Troy and a posse of farmers are scouring the neighborhood, and police from the local department are watching the bridge here for the negro. No one saw him near the Hendrick home, and his description is unknown.

POEM MOVES TAFT TO PARDON WHITE SLAYER

By The Associated Press.

Washington, July 10.—A prison mother's poem, woven about the desolation of her only child, so pleased President Taft that he today commuted to expire at once the five and one half year sentence of Emma Brown, convicted at Salt Lake City June 20, 1911, of violating the white slave law. The trial judge and federal attorney endorsed the woman's appeal for clemency, the first granted in a white slave case.

By The Associated Press.

Corning, N. Y., July 10.—Engineer William Schroeder of the Lackawanna express train, that crashed into a passenger train here Thursday, resulting in the death of forty persons, has been stated, was intoxicated shortly before he took the train on the fatal run. Two bartenders of Elmira testified today that Schroeder was in their place the night before the wreck. One said he served him gin and the other said the engineer drank only mineral water.

ROYALISTS FAVOR A CONSUL REPUBLIC

FRENCH NOBILITY THE WOULD WANT PRINCE NAPOLEON AS CONSUL.

General Feeling Is That Some Kind of Revolution Is Coming Soon.

Special to The Morning News.

Paris, July 10.—The general uneasiness which the prevalence of socialism, the increase in the price of living and the general political discontent in France had brought with them, encouraged by the Bonapartists, who have been quiescent recently, to hold a monster meeting at the Salle Wagram the other evening. The Marquis de Dion was the principal speaker. Five thousand people listened to him and applauded to the echo his plea for a "consular republic." The implication, of course, was that Prince Napoleon would be the consul.

Although there is little likelihood of a monarchy, an empire or even a consular republic in France in the immediate future, there is no doubt whatever that the French people are ripe for another revolution. Nobody is quite satisfied with the present form of government. Everybody feels, no matter what class he belongs to, that he is overtaxed and over red-taped. There is a general feeling that the real rulers of the country (who are not merely the government but all the members of the two chambers, and far too many of their friends), are much too expensive a luxury.

If General Boulanger were alive there might easily be a coup d'etat tomorrow. By turning out the congressmen, the nominal rulers of France have set the many leaders in power, and they are harder masters than either the priests or even the nobles ever were. The bourgeoisie is a long suffering animal, but he is beginning to kick against the pricks. The socialist element has so swelled a head that its demands are becoming more and more than the bourgeoisie will stand, and in France, when unrest has become as general as it is now becoming, a civil war, with or without bloodshed, a revolution, peaceable or otherwise, would be a necessity.

WALKED TO HIS HOME WITH SWARM OF BEES ON ARM

Special to The Morning News.

Connersville, Ind., July 10.—Walking an eighth of a mile with a swarm of bees on his arm, Manuel Cullen consigned the swarm to a hive without receiving a single sting. He was at work in a truck patch some distance from his home and had sat down to rest under a tree when a swarm of bees descended about him. He saw the queen of the swarm alight, but feared the attack of the whole swarm if he tried to remove her.

When the last one had settled the man made his way to his home. He gently shook and sifted the bees till he found the queen, which he dropped in an empty hive of his own. The bees all went inside and were shut up.
